Biography

Arcturus is the moniker of Arizona-based producer Daniel Kaplan. With roots in hip-hop inspired by the sounds of his home state of New York, Daniel has been paving ways in the world of half-time music. His sound design and composition skills are incredibly cutting-edge and puts his all into live sets that will take fans on a ethereal journey. Daniel has been working diligently the past five years to take his knowledge in sound engineering and his wide-reaching musical inspiration to master a sound that truly resonates with who he is as a person.
